IN THE SPECIFICATION:

On page 1, line 3, after "Serial No.", ----- 09/823,604 ----- has been inserted.

2. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: All the claims are allowable over the prior art of record because prior art fail to teach or fairly suggest a switching and routing scheme embodied in a network access switch as claimed in the present invention, especially with the features of layer-2 switching functionality which is operable to switch the data units to an intermediate device; the intermediate device operable to selectively communicate to the layer-3 routing functionality one or more first data units received on an external link and are to be subsequently switched to layer-2 switching functionality of another network access switch on an associated system link, the first data units containing layer-3 routing information for a data block comprising the first data units and a plurality of other data units, the layer-3 routing functionality determining a system destination for the data block that comprise an address of another network access switch that is that is associated with an external link coupled to the other network access switch, and selectively storing second data units, the second data units being data units within the data block that have been communicated to the intermediate device after the layer-3 routing functionality has begun to determine a system destination for the data block and before all other data units within the data block ahead of the second data units have been switched for communication to the layer-2 switching functionality of the other network access switch.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
